Piano-Forte Recital.

Before a large audience the series of graduating recitals at Central College for the current year was inaugurated Thursday night with a Piano program by Miriam Adolyn Ford.

In a wide range of selections the pianiste furnished unmis-takable evidence of musical intelligence, commanding technic, poetical conception, and refined interpretation.

Each number in Miss Ford's hands was adequately and effectively rendered. And at the close of the Concerto the play-er was recalled by persistent ap-ause. In the concerted num-ber Miss Ford was ably accom-panied by her teacher, Prof. D. F. Conrad.

The entire program follows:

Cow vs. Goat in Milk Production

Kansas City, Mo., April 25.—Some Missouri cows do not pro-duce any more milk than a goat according to an exhibit that will be seen in the Heart of Amer-ica Dairy Show in Kansas City June 5 to 10. This exhibit has been prepared by the U. S. De-partment of Agriculture from data collected from 452 cow testing associations in the Uni-ted States.

Among the lessons to be dem-onstrated are the facts that dairymen find fall freshening most profitable; that each in-crease of 50 pounds of butterfat production increases income a-bove feed cost by $15.00; and, that a cow may produce heavily part of the year and yet have a low annual production.

Results of an expiriment in dairy cattle breeding in which hundreds of animals have been used will be seen at this show. The effect of line-breeding, in-breeding and out-breeding is one of the interesting features. The blood of eight prominent Jersey families are being con-centrated in the individuals in the third generation to deter-mine the effect on production.

Value of the proven sire is al-so shown by an immense booth picturing Holsteins used as foundation stock in an experiment at Beltsville, Maryland. Four heifers, purchased on the strength of their proven sire's ability to get good daughters freshened at the age of 27 months and aver-aged 19025.4 pounds of milk and 603.7 pounds of butterfat.

No dairman or farmer will at-tend the Heart of America Dairy Show without being impressed with the fact that better sires mean better stock; and that better stock means better homes, schools, churches and roads.

W. M. Bowker, of Nevada, Missouri, candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, Division Number Two was in Lexington yesterday calling upon the vot-ers.

LEXINGTON HIGH WINS HONORS

In Competition With Thirty-five High School at Warrens-burg.

Friday and Saturday of last week was the date for the Dis-trict High School meet at War-rensburg. Thirty-five high schools of Central Missouri en-tered in the different contests which included Girls, Boys, and Mixed Quartets, Spelling, Short-hand, Latin, Debate, Boys and Girls Declamatory Contests, and the Track and Field Meet. Lex-ington was entered in all but Boys Quartet, Boys Declama-tion, and the Shorthand Contest.

As this was the first time that Lexington High School had been entered on so extensive a scale we won our share of med-als. In Spelling, out of thirty-nine entries Ruth Lindblad won second place, missing seven words out of two hundred.

Our mixed quartet, compos-ed of Mildred Caldwell, Eliza-beth Young, Aaron Uphaus, and Windsor Farmer, won third place out of seven entries. Our girls quartet, however, did not do so well, not placing among the four highest in the finals. Katherine Winkler, Violet But-ler, Elizabeth Young, and Addie Belle Jenkins were the members of this quartet.

In debate, J. Q. Cope, Jr., won the silver medal out of ten con-testants.

Ruth Lindblad won third place out of thirty-five contestants in declamation.

The following was our record in the track meet:

Half mile—Carl Maib, 4th out of 25. Barnett Lankford, 5th out of 27.
Half mile—Windsor Farmer, 3rd out of 32.

CHILDREN'S WEEK

April 30-May 7th Will be Ob-served Throughout North-America.

Gov. A. M. Hyde has issued the following proclamation re-lative to Children's Week:

Whereas, it was the reasoned conviction of the men who founded America that religion, morality and knowledge are nec-essary to good government and the happiness of mankind, and, Whereas, in the home and in the teaching of the church and Sunday school are to be found the principles, if not the only sources of religious training, and therefore of morality, and,

Whereas, I have been petition-ed by a number of good citizens to set aside a week to be known as Children's Week during which special thought shall be given to the religious training of all children in Missouri,

Now, therefore, I, Arthur M. Hyde, governor of the state of Missouri, do hereby designate and set aside the week of April 30th to May 7th, 1922, to be de-signated throughout the state as CHILDREN'S WEEK in the hope that the year 1922 may be memorable in the train-ing of the children of Missouri in religion and morality—those great fundamentals of American-ism—and calling upon the fath-ers and mothers of the state to consider, seriously the training of their children therein.

Diseases of The Baby.

Columbia, Mo., Apr. 26.—With the coming of spring, we begin to look forward to the diseases of warm weather. Insects begin to breed and become plentiful, and of these insects, the house-fly is the one most to be dread-ed in this part of the country, according to Dr. M. P. Ravenel, of the School of Medicine of the University of Missouri, Presi-dent of the American Public Health Association.

It is well known that the sum-mer is a period of special danger to infants, especially if they are artificially fed instead of being nursed by their mothers. If anyone were asked his opin-ion as to the dangers which bes-et children, the majority of people would immediately think of some of the much dreaded diseases like scarlet fever or diptheria. As an actual matter of fact, children are quite im-mune to contagious diseases dur-ing the first year of life, espe-cially when they are nursed by their mothers.

The great cause of death a-mong infants is troubles with the digestion, commonly called gastric and intestinal diseases. Among these, various forms var-iable errors in feeding, and the chief error is probably the use of dirty milk. If we take the deaths from all the contagious diseases put together—measles scarlet fever, whooping cough, diptheria, erysipelas, etc.—they do not equal the number of deaths from intestinal troubles, and these are most prevalent during the summer time.

It is needless to say, that wherever possible, a child under one year of age should be nursed by its mother. There is no danger of contamination of the milk passing directly from the breast to the child's mouth. It is also given at the correct tem-perature, and in an absolutely fresh and pure condition. It is nature's method of rearing the young, and every mother should do her best to nurse her own child.

LEXINGTON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

One of the sad things about American motherhood, is the in-ability and unwillingness of many mothers to nurse their children. No artificial food however well or carefully pre-pared, can equal mother's milk. It is a well known fact that breast fed children invariably do better than those who are arti-ficially fed.

During the summer months particularly, milk is apt to spoil. A very small particle of dirt of any sort, or a single fly, is e-nough to seed a forty quart can and make it unfit for baby food. Cleanliness, therefore, is the watch word in caring for chil-dren during the summer months.

$100 Scholarship for Lafayette County.

Some young man between the ages of 16 and 30 in Lafayette County is going to receive a $100 scholarship to the Short Course at the Missouri College of Agri-culture. This is enough money to pay one-half of the expenses of attending this course for four months. This course is offered during November, December, January, and February.

The Missouri Pacific railway company is giving a scholarship in each of the counties thru which its tracks run.

This scholarship will be award-ed by a local committee appoint-ed by the College of Agricult-ure.

Over 3500 young men have re-ceived practical agricultural training in the Short Course. Opportunity for specialization in any line of farming is offered. It is given at the time of year that farmers can most easily leave their farm work. Anyone over 16 years of age having a common school education may attend.

This scholarship offers some young man in Lafayette County the chance of securing high class agricultural training at a very low cost to himself. Ap-plication blanks for this schol-arship may be secured from the Superintendent of Short Courses, Missouri College of Agricul-ture, Columbia, Missouri.

The many friends of Mrs. J. M. Robertson will glad to learn that she is rapidly recovering from the operation recently sus-tained at the Highland Heights Hospital in this city. She will be able to leave the hospital in about a week.

Maj. and Mrs. Bowen of Boon-ville, spent Sunday here with Maj. and Mrs. C. L. Mitchell. In the evening they motored to Kansas City. Mrs. Mitchell ac-companied them.

Miss Ethel Helm returned Sunday evening from a week's visit with relatives in Kansas City. Her brother, Russell, ac-companied her home for a brief visit.

Mrs. D. J. MacDonald, nee Laura Hyde Wilson, and small daughter, Alice, from Cincinnati, Ohio, are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Hopkins.

The county court and county assessor meeting this week as a board of appeals, seem to be very popular. It appears that many are dissatisfied with their valuation.
